Welfare Measures for Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff

To ensure the well-being and professional growth of teaching and non-teaching staff, the institution has implemented several welfare measures:

Financial Welfare: Health insurance, medical reimbursement, and prompt salary disbursement are all provided by the college.

Workplace Facilities: A safe working environment, sanitary cafeteria services, well-equipped staff rooms, and transportation allowances are guaranteed. Additionally maternity leave, grievance redressal procedures, and security precautions are offered.

Professional Development: Training courses, conferences, and workshops are recommended for faculty members. Higher education and research are eligible for study leave. Training for skill development is provided to non-teaching staff.

Health and Well-Being: The college offers free fitness classes, yoga sessions, counseling, and health examinations. On-campus emergency medical care is provided.

Recognition and Motivation: Employees receive rewards, certificates of gratitude, and merit-based promotions in recognition of their accomplishments. Positive workplace cultures are fostered via yearly staff festivities and get-togethers.

These measures ensure a supportive and motivating environment, enhancing job satisfaction and institutional growth.
